Description: T4 Learning is a professional development company founded by Vicki Alterwitz, recognized for her expertise and leadership in curriculum, instruction, teaching and learning. The professional development and coaching provided by T4 Learning is designed to transform teaching and learning by strengthening first and best instruction and providing multiple and continuous opportunities for student focused collaboration and inquiry.

T4 Learning's four components (Teachers, Training, Tools and Time) must work together in order to promote educational excellence. These four components align to create a high level of consistency for each and every student, all day, every day, in every classroom to create and foster the common goal to support and accelerate student success. Efficacious instruction in the 21st Century requires a focus on the Common Core State Standards and implementing high engagement teaching strategies to promote thinking, communicating and problem-solving. Not only do students need to master the standards necessary to demonstrate academic success, but equally as important, to learn to think critically, solve complex problems and communicate both orally and in writing. How districts do the work is as important as what districts do to prepare students for college and career readiness and actualizing their potential.
